From the Worship and Education committee
regarding upcoming service leadership:

September 24: Living in Right Relations Committee

SEEPEETZA

Her father's and uncle's excessive consumption of alcohol is also normalized for Seepeetza, and her descriptions of their behaviour are unemotional and almost matter of fact. Although it is normal, indeed even fun, when Seepeetza and her siblings wait in the truck outside a beer parlour, or hide in the bush, or flee to her uncle's home when their father drinks, she is frightened of her father's rages. She compares Sister Theo to him: "The way Sister Theo yells at us reminds me of my Dad when he's drinking. It scares me."
